STATEMENT OF COMMITMENT

Mr Obey Chingarande, the CEO of SAFETYQUIP INDUSTRIAL , states: "One cannot risk jeopardising the safety of people and valuable investments by not adhering to safety standards and regulations. At SAFETYQUIP we aim to provide high risk industries with affordable solutions for their day to day safety needs".

SAFETYQUIP INDUSTRIAL is strategically positioned to offer a comprehensive solution to individual and company needs based on our professional and technical expertise. The focus on SAFETYQUIP is to form partnerships with its customers and to provide the best safety solutions possible by adding value through service excellence and quality products.

Safetyquip Industrial & Safety Suppliers was established in 2012 and its focus was mainly to supply corner groceries and work wear around Harare. Since then the company has positioned itself strategically and has expanded its operations nationally and internationally. The CEO's entrepreneurial spirit coupled with innovative, organised and controlled methods of management has expanded the business from a house-based operation into a medium sized business. In it's 5 years of existence, the company has grown substantially, penetrating into local and national markets, and has diversified into manufacturing its own branded range of safety products. The company employs a diverse group of people with dynamic dedicated staff. SAFETYQUIP follows the employment equity plan and has developed and trained staff from disadvantaged communities, including disabled individuals.

Textile Care

Always follow the care instructions on our garment label
 Cotton dries out, becomes hard and brittle and loses all elasticity at temperature above 25 C
 Polyester is combustible but due to its thermoplastic nature, it tends to shrink away from the flame source and often self-extinguishes
